The French have reoccupied Limburg in consequence of the German police arresting and transporting two German railwaymen working for the French.

FRENCH CREDITS VOTED.

PARIS, June 29.
During the Senate Debate on the Ruhr estimates, M. Poincaré said that if France were animated by political and military aims she would have occupied the valley main in order to cut Germany in two. He declared Germany's proposals were not serious and did not deserve a reply. The senate unanimously voted credits of 307,000,000 francs, for the cost of the occupation on the Ruhr to June 30.

The American Army men Captain Lowell Smith and Lieut Richter, who started yesterday morning to attempt to remain in the air four days and nights over a fifty kilometre triangular course on a de Havilland aeroplane, were forced to land in San Diego Bay owing to fog.

The plane overturned and was damaged. The aviators were not injured.

A supply plane had previously four times successfully got into contact with the de Havilland machine which thus was thrice refuelled and once fed.

AMERICANS' TERRIFIC CONTEST.

WIMBLEDON SURPRISE.

LONDON, June 29.

There was a brilliant scene at Wimbledon. The King and Queen, Princess Mary and many other distinguished people were among the 14,000 spectators.

The chief attraction was the 5th round match between the American giants John H. and Billie Jean King. John H. King, who had not been playing with his usual brilliance, had a surprising win 6-3, 7-5. The match was fought at terrific pace. Richards was more brilliant with net play but John H. hit harder and more accurately. He kept Richards at the base line and gave him no chance for volleying.

The subsequent 4th round matches were more comparatively, Gordon Lowe defeating Lycett 6-1, 8-6, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5. Greig and Conde de Gomar reversed victories.

Miss Ryan and Miss McKane entered the 1st round. The former partnered Miss Leighton in an easy victory in the second round.

DISCHARGED.

SECOND BOAT ARRIVES.
OCEAN DRAMA.
(Reuter's Service to the China Mail.)

LONDON, June 29.
A dramatic story of the sea has reached its climax in the arrival at Rodriguez Island and Mauritius, respectively, of the two boats containing 34 members of the crew of the steamer "Trevesa" which foundered by the Indian Ocean on June 4. The search for survivors had previously been in vain and hope had almost been given up. The survivors suffered great hardships owing to shortage of food and water and owing to the heavy seas. Two native firemen succumbed to exposure. The others are recovering rapidly.

LONDON, June 29.
Up to the present it is believed that eight or ten of the "Trevesa" crew have not survived their experiences.

PORT LOUIS, June 29.
The boat already mentioned came to land at Belombre, 35 miles from here.

All the men are progressing except two who are very weak.

LATEST DRY SHIP LAW POSITION.

SEIZING VESSELS.

NEW YORK, June 29.

Lord Carson's rejection of the 12-mile limit proposal has apparently effectually countered the State Department's effort to clear away simultaneously the ship liquor controversy and rum smuggling. Speculation has been revived whether Congress will revise the law to permit sealed liquors freely to pass into American waters, but there is reason to believe that high Government official gravely doubt whether Congress will favour such a plan.

Meanwhile the proposal to seize vessels bringing liquor to ports has reached a stage where tentative regulations can be drafted. The Treasury hopes that seizures will not be necessary, but it is stated that continued disregard of the law will result in vigorous action.

MEDICINE.

NEW YORK, June 29.

Dr. Sprague, of the Federal Health Service, has received instructions from Washington barring such as ship's medicine. Representatives of Italian and French lines announce that they will protest against the ruling as their respective laws provide for the use of beer.

A permit will be issued to the American ship "Leviathan" sailing on July 7 to carry a considerable liquor medicine chest. The amount has not been disclosed. Other American ships have applied for permits. Dr. Sprague says the amounts allotted to them will be limited to their actual medicinal needs.

ANOTHER OXFORD SUCCESS.

252 NOT OUT.

LONDON, June 29.

At the Oval, Surrey lost to Oxford University by 3 wickets. Ducat (Surrey) scored 134 and D. R. Jardine (Oxon) made 95, both in their second innings.

Somerset, at Taunton, lost to Middlesex by 8 wickets. In Somerset's first innings, J. C. W. MacBryan made 108 and P. R. Johnson 106. Hearn (I.W.), (Middlesex) obtained 6 wickets for 85 and 6 for 97.

Gloucestershire defeated Glamorgan at Bristol by ten wickets. For the winners, Dipper (A.G.), in scoring 252 not out in the first innings, made the highest individual score of the season; Parker secured 6 wickets for 38 and 5 for 51.

At Manchester, Lancashire beat the West Indies team by 5 wickets. Makepeace (Lancs.) scored 111 in his first innings and Small (West Indies) made 94 and 68.

At Lord's the Army defeated the Navy by 319 runs. For the winners, Captain T. O. Jameson scored 85 and 59 and Captain E. S. B. Williams 97 in the second innings.

LATEST ARRESTS.

SIMLA, June 29.

The political situation is quiet, except for the continuance of passive resistance at Nagpur and the carrying of the National flag in procession through a prohibited area.

Seven hundred volunteers were arrested and convicted, several being hired dupes who apologised subsequently and were released. It is expected the movement will expire unless the volunteers are reinforced from elsewhere.

Three members of the National Congress have been arrested at Narsingpur and charged with conspiring to induce soldiers to join the movement.

HONGKONG WEMBLEY.

PROPOSED LOCAL STADIUM.

SPORTING MEN'S OPINIONS.

"ATTRACTIVE" AND "FEASIBLE"

Some days ago the suggestion was made in this paper that Hongkong should have a stadium. The proposed local Wembley, we urged, should be large enough to enable the more important local and interport cricket matches to be held; to allow of bowls interport matches; tennis tournaments, baseball matches, and of course football matches. There should be provision for the Stadium that is so much desired, and there might also be room for rifle ranges, etc. This suggestion has aroused much interest in athletic circles here, and to-day we are able to give the views of several prominent sportsmen whose opinions will receive careful attention and will doubtless excite further comment. Hoping that some definite scheme will emerge, we cordially invite those interested to state their views.

BOXING MAN'S VIEWS.

"ATTRACTIVE PROJECT."

Mr. G. G. N. Tinson, Honorary Secretary and Treasurer of the Hongkong Boxing Association, expressed some interesting views to a China Mail representative last evening. When asked his opinion as to the feasibility of a Hongkong Wembley, as suggested in the China Mail of June 16, Mr. Tinson said that he feared the cost of a hall for boxing would be prohibitive in view of the limited support boxing received locally. Experience had shown, said Mr. Tinson, that in Hongkong a house of 900 was all one could expect under the most favourable circumstances and then only if the programme had some "star turn" and was staged in the city itself. To substantiate the latter part of his statement, Mr. Tinson showed by the club's books that the difference in takings at the Ming Yuen Gardens and the City Hall had been approximately $200 on the average in favour of the latter, which was not so well suited for staging a fight as the Gardens, either from a contestant's or a spectator's point of view.

Again it is difficult to see where the money for upkeep is to come from unless the local Association can hold contests more often during the year as is done in Singapore. Mr. Tinson acknowledged that a hall for training, instruction and contests was badly needed here, but with the present lack of enthusiasm (apart from the Services) it was difficult to see how the Boxing Association could find either the "initial" funds for building or for upkeep. The Association, in a good year, has a balance of nearly $2,000 of which it has been the custom to donate the major portion to deserving causes. If the entire profits were devoted to the upkeep of a boxing hall, salaries for attendants, insurance etc., the present income would not suffice.

TO INCREASE MEMBERSHIP.
"Could not your association encourage local boxers outside the Services by holding boxing classes for members as is done in Shanghai?" Mr. Tinson replied that the project was very attractive provided sufficient aspirants were forthcoming. He felt confident that the use of a suitable place for giving instruction would be gladly given on certain days in the week. The services of an instructor could easily be found, but asked Mr. Tinson: "could the review supply the budding boxers?"

The China Mail replied that plenty of Eurasian lads were keen enough on boxing, as continually demonstrated in the local boys were not less keen than others, but they were not encouraged here—then again the colour was against creating keenness.

"Our Association itself," said Mr. Tinson, "draws no colour line. The Association is ready at all times to encourage contests, provided the contestants are equally matched. We are not going to stage uneven fights if we can possibly avoid it. Most careful enquiries are made as to the qualifications of would-be contestants before the Association fathers a fight."

Asked for his personal views on the colour line, Mr. Tinson expressed the hope that the colour ban, as it exists out here, will be withdrawn by the Services with regard to boxing, as there is none in the case of athletics, cricket, football, rowing or tennis.

"PERFECTLY FEASIBLE"
FOOTBALL PRESIDENT ENTHUSIASTIC.
Mr. R. J. Wilton, president of the Hongkong Football Association, and vice-president of the Hongkong Football Club, when seen by a China Mail reporter, was most enthusiastic about the idea of a stadium.

"I can assure you," said Mr. Wilton, "that any feasible scheme to furnish us with a football ground on which spectators and players can be properly catered for will have the whole-hearted support of the H.K.F.A. In time I have no doubt that the Hongkong Football Club would make it their headquarters."

Mr. Wilton suggested that if a suitable piece of ground could be found near Sookumpoo and leased from Government at a nominal rent, the entire management should be in the hands of a committee composed of representatives of every club in the Colony. He suggested the building of substantial stands to enable spectators to watch the games in comfort, the erection of a permanent building in which boxing contests could be held, the laying down of a sufficient area of turf for tennis, cricket and bowls, which, if possible should be entirely separate from the football ground. On the outside of the turf a cinder-track should be laid, where the different clubs, universities and schools could hold their annual sports. In this connection, Mr. Wilton hopes the ground will be large enough to allow of dykes to be permanently constructed to enable sports programmes to include a steeple-chase.

AN IDEAL GROUND.
"An ideal ground as far as football or baseball are concerned would be the polo-ground, but unfortunately at present it is reserved for the pleasure of but a minority of the community." Mr. Wilton agreed that polo-players could easily be accommodated two nights a week in the new ground. "If we could only obtain such a ground as suggested in the China Mail, the H.K.F.A. would undertake that all interport fixtures be played there and, in addition, would give the public two games every Saturday during the soccer season." Baseball would be a great attraction from May to September.

Mr. Wilton anticipated no difficulty in the funds being forthcoming for the upkeep, but the ground would need fencing to prevent spectators watching football or other games without paying gate-money. "If permanent stands were erected, dressing rooms and refreshment rooms could be provided underneath. Mat sheds and bamboo stands are 'one continued expense,' the speaker added. 'At the present time there are not sufficient football grounds to meet the demand and if any feasible scheme for a stadium—which would include at least one full-size football ground in addition to space for baseball, cricket, bowls and tennis—were put forward I feel sure the necessary financial backing would be forthcoming. I would suggest that as soon as suitable ground has been found, the various sporting clubs and institutions (including all schools) be asked to send delegates to a meeting to discuss ways and means.'"

With regard to the suggestion that a building for boxing might prove rather a white elephant, Mr. Wilton pointed out that on certain nights a week a band could be hired to play there, concerts and dances could be held, all of which should prove money-getters. In conclusion, Mr. Wilton advised the China Mail to keep the matter continually before the public as he felt sure the scheme was perfectly feasible.

"RARE BOON"

INTERPORT CRICKETS.

Mr. L. S. Greenhill, Honorary Secretary and Treasurer of the Hongkong Cricket Club, holds the opinion that while the new scheme will be of little assistance to cricketers as a body, unless the new ground is spacious enough to allow of cricket being played at the same time as football and tennis, every encouragement should be given the promoters. He feels sure that his committee will support any feasible scheme. Getting the various clubs into one fold appeals greatly to him. While admitting that he is an advocate of the use of "batting wickets," he is convinced that the playing members will never consent. Unless, therefore, a separate cricket ground can be provided in the projected stadium, the protection of the pitch may prove a difficult problem. For the holding of interport matches the stadium will be a rare boon and falling the polo ground or some other suitable site, Mr. Greenhill suggests that King's Park might fill the bill.

"The chief difficulty to overcome," said Mr. Greenhill, "is the clash of the cricket and football seasons, but if we can obtain a ground on the scale of Shanghai no opposition should be met with from cricketers."

As regards the initial outlay, Mr. Greenhill expects the promoters will encounter little difficulty what with gifts from firms and benevolently disposed citizens.

A BASEBALL VIEW.
Mr. H. J. Koch, President of the Hongkong Baseball Club, told a China Mail reporter that any "live scheme" for a Stadium would meet with the unqualified support of the baseball community of whatever nationality. "As far as our club is concerned," he continued, "we are under a deep debt of gratitude to the H. K. F. C. for the use of our present ground for the season, but naturally, under the circumstances, our club can make no permanent improvements. With a stadium, I feel sure more interest would be shown in Baseball in the Colony, as 'fans' would attend the games in company with their wives and families once we were in a position to offer them more comfortable surroundings. Of course, at the present, the Club's financial budget is run on very close lines, but should the proposed stadium come into being, I feel sure you would find the American community would support it. From the money collected at the gate our Club should have no difficulty in finding their quota towards the annual upkeep."

ASSAULT ALLEGED.

CHINESE CONSTABLES CHARGED.

The case in which four Chinese constables were remanded on a charge of assaulting a Yumai merchant named Chan Chor-wing, came up for hearing again before Mr. J. R. Wood yesterday afternoon. Mr. K. Lo representing the complainant and Mr. T. H. King, D.S.P., watching the case on behalf of the constables.

Mr. Lo outlined his case which was to the effect that complainant was on the Yumai water-front near a launch about to carry a party of worshippers to Castle Peak Bay. He was hailed by his people on board but before he could board the launch a commotion had broken out. He is alleged to have been beaten with fists and the butts of revolvers.

The defence was that the constables had been sent by the Principal Chinese Detective to watch for gambling, as it was alleged that the launch did not carry a worshipping party but a crowd of gamblers. Complainant is stated to have received his injuries while resisting arrest and falling down in running away.

Evidence was then called and the case adjourned.

PROGRAMME FEATURES.

TO-NIGHT.

Star, Kowloon.—"The Fire Eater" and "Here He Comes."

CLOSE-UPS.

At last we're going to have a clean screen. Several of the stars in Hollywood have got together and started a laundry.

It is estimated that no less than 3,783,427 cans of black shoe polish were used last month by movie stars to dress up their hair. The more it shines the better they like it.

Elinor Glyn is nearing the end of her rope. She started off with "Three Weeks," then went to "One Day," then to "His Hour." Now she has arrived at "The Man and the Moment." After she has shown us what can be done in the period of a second Elinor will no doubt go back and start all over again.

Family combinations are not always the wisest arrangement. But that doesn't apply to Miss Murray and her directorial husband, Robert Leonard. For under his direction Mac has done some entertaining things. And now they are busy on "The French Doll" which is adapted from the stage play in which Irene Bordino appeared.

Babe is back in the studios again after a month or two sojourning in the Southern pines. In "The Exciters" she will be found in the leading feminine rôle—heroine to the hero of Antonio Moreno.

Harold Lloyd desired Mildred Lloyd, née Davis, to remain in the home, forsaking all semblance of a career. So it behooved him to find a new leading-lady. And after much consideration Jobyna Ralston, a young Southern girl, was chosen. There is a piquant charm to Jobyna.

Betty Compson, unlike many stars, has no objections to California and makes most of her pictures there. Right now she is playing under Herbert Brenon's direction in "The Rattle of Silk." And Conway Tearle and Anna Q. Nilsson are also found in the excellent cast.

Her warmest admirer in Hollywood is Norma Talmadge. Norma opines that the greatest piece of nothing ever seen on the screen was Pola Negri in "Gypsy Love."

The early Spring has found Betty Blythe feverishly packing scores of trunks. The occasion is her departure for Algiers where she will play in "Chu Chin Chow" under the direction of some British film company.

The Negri is a wild wind from the Russian steppes. She doesn't calculate her effects any more than a bucking broncho. If it is true that we come back to this earth again and again thru countless lives, then in one of her lives Pola was a she-tiger.

The American rights of the film version of "This Freedom," Mr. A. S. M. Hutchinson's novel, have been sold by Ideal Films (Limited), of London, to the Fox Film Corporation of America for $20,000—a record figure.

The President of the United States has sanctioned a scheme whereby the Government will form a collection of cinematograph films of historical events.

Thomas H. Ince has purchased the screen right of "Anna Christie." Eugene O'Neill's drama. Bradley King is preparing the film version which will go into production shortly under the direction of John Griffith Wray.

Victor Sjöström is making a film version for Goldwyn of Hall Caine's novel, "The Master of Men," with Meta Busch playing the leading feminine rôle.

Alia Nazimova's next picture is to be based on Tolstoy's "Anna Karenina." "The White Moll."

Katherine Newlin Burr's story, "The Eagle's Feather," is to be made into a picture under the direction of...

"NEEKA OF THE NORTHLAND."

Following the presentation of Clara Kimball Young in "The Worldly Madonna," Messrs. A. C. and R. C. Bromhead will present Nell Shipman in "Neeka of the Northland," aptly described as "action melodrama" with some unusual features.

Nell Shipman is a pioneer player who started her career under Jesse Lasky's management when he was in the vaudeville business. Later, he brought her to the screen, where she has become identified with outdoor pictures. To her other accomplishments as athlete, airwoman, and animal-lover, she has now added authorship and film direction, and it is said with success (Bert Van Tayle collaborated with Miss Shipman in the direction of this picture).

"Neeka of the Northland" opens with some unusual "shots," showing Miss Shipman on excellent terms with all manner of wild animals of the woods, including Brownie, her famous bear, which she has reared since he played in his first picture, "Back to God's Country," when only a few weeks old.

AN EMBARRASSING RELATIVE.

Thereafter, the wild Neeka bursts in upon polite southern society with a disregard to etiquette and convention that is wholly delightful for all but her embarrassed relatives. Then she gets implicated in a plot to stop a trans-Pacific flight, and the "star" is well launched on a series of physical and dramatic thrills that run the whole gamut of the animal, fight, fire, and aeroplane stunts.

The aeroplane scenes are particularly well done, and it is interesting to note that they were all photographed and directed 6,000 feet up in the air, Miss Shipman being much too fond of a thrill herself to work the old rocking-the-aeroplane game.

The American title of "Neeka of the Northland" was "The Girl From God's Country," singularly befitting to the "star," who, in spite of her American career, is of English descent, and was born in Victoria, British Columbia. She is not, by the way, a "magazine" outdoor girl, for it was the location work which attracted her to pictures, and she spends most of her life "roughing" it and sleeping under the stars than she does in the conventional atmosphere of bungalow and bed.

tion of Edward Sloman, with a cast which includes James Kirkwood, Mary Alden, Lester Cuneo, Elinor Fair, Barbara La Marr, William Orlamond, Charlie McHugh, Adolph Menjou, George Seigman and John Elliott.

Charlie Chaplin had much to do with starting Jackie Coogan on the road to wealth and fame. Now another lad is about to embark in the same general direction. He is little Dinky Dean, the mischievous youngster of Chaplin's "The Pilgrim." He is to be starred in a fifteenth-century drama called "John of the Woods" and supported by a cast of adult players.

Jean Valjean—a Chinese coolie; the Bishop—a Buddhist priest; and the streets of Paris, the winding, cluttered by-ways of a Chinese city—these are a few of the adaptations necessary when "Les Misérables" in a Chinese setting was produced by Japanese actors, recently in Japan. The motion picture, which is in serial form, is now running in one of the largest theatres in Tokyo. Baseball-movies—Fords! And all the world is kin.

"Mr. Daring," said the director, "in this scene a lion will pursue you for five hundred feet."

"Five hundred feet?" interrupted the actor.

"Yes, and no more than that—understand?"

The hero nodded. "Yes, I understand, but does the lion?"

The manager exclaimed, "My dear, a voice like yours we seldom hear. I see in you a coming queen—You really should go on the screen!"

W. P. Kellum's first production for Stoll is now definitely announced as "Lady Godiva." This is not the first screen version of the semi-historical legend associated with the wife of Leofric, Earl of Mercia, who rode through the streets of Coventry, thus providing what the racing correspondent of the "Press" call "Form at a Glance."

TOPICS.

AN AFRICAN ATMOSPHERE.

Apart from the sequence of strongly dramatic situations and the excellent African atmosphere of Mary Miles Minter's new picture, "Drums of Destiny," the picture also presents some African novelties in the presentation of jungle telegraphy through the medium of drums which are operated very skillfully by the natives and can be heard for miles.

Another interesting item in the picture is a faithful representation of a sacred native dance known as The Moon Dance, which few white men have ever witnessed. In fact, native superstition says that no white man may look upon the dance and live, but the fullness of the belief is evidenced in the records of certain explorers, from which the details of this dance were secured for representation in "Drums of Destiny." It is, of course, a full ceremonial dance with war paint and decorations and primarily designed to create frenzy preparatory to going in to a fight.

THE STARLIT GARDEN.

"The Starlit Garden," Mr. de Vere Staurope's book, just completed by Guy Newall for George Clark Pictures, Ltd., is to be trade shown this month.

Guy Newall and Ivy Duke play the leading rôles in this film, which is designed purely, it is understood, "to amuse for an hour or so audiences who are weary of mighty spectacle, great themes, confused intrigue, social problems, or illicit love-making."

It is just an unpretentious little story in really charming settings, taking place in Italy and Ireland, and its humour is such that it sets out to create a smile without an accompanying blush. "It may also," it seems, "be slept through by anyone who uses a picture-theatre for that purpose, without the fear of the sleeper being rudely awakened."

SHAYLE GARDNER.

Shayle Gardner, who played the important part of Pietro Morelli in the third episode of "The Wandering Jew," and is now acting the character of Armed Khan in "Indian Love Lyrics," has had an interesting career. As a boy in San Jose, California, he sold papers, did odd jobs at gardening, and caught butterflies, which he sold to students. In those days the San Francisco Examiner ran illustrated stories of two kiddies who became quite famous. He arranged tableaux of the famous characters, and admission to his little shows was paid for in bottles by way of currency. These bottles he afterwards sold, it seems, but did not wax exceeding rich upon the proceeds.

Later he was trained to become an architect, but the stage had a greater appeal than the quiet professional life of an architect, subject to the whims and fads of other people. He came to England, and at a garden party given by his uncle, Bishop Boyd Carpenter, recited in the presence of Forbes Robertson passages from "Hamlet," in which play the eminent actor was then appearing. Showing considerable promise, he entered Tru's school and later realised his ambition.

In "The Wandering Jew," Shayle Gardner makes an excellent priest, and his rôle in "The Indian Love Lyrics" provides further opportunities for his outstanding ability.

THE LIGHTS OF LONDON.

Captain Calvert made the interesting admission that in view of the fact that the old stage production of "The Lights of London" is practically unknown to the younger generations he has decided to cut out old conventions, especially in regard to characters, and present the melodrama as an up-to-date story. In fact, it will be a 1929 version and not the Victorian version of "The Lights of London." Incidentally, this decision will also give him an opportunity to introduce additional dramatic effects, and the success of the picture will depend entirely upon its rapid fire action and sequence of dramatic thrills, which will include a very big fire scene, and also a motor boat chase and fight on the Thames.

The latest Matheson-Lang picture has been acquired by Ideal, who showed it at the New Oxford Theatre, London.

"Jealousy" as the film has been titled, is an impressive drama of passion, played out in grim surroundings. It was written especially with a view to Matheson-Lang playing the leading character.

Mr. Lang takes the part of a sea captain, jealous of his own mate, a former sweetheart of his wife. The madness of jealousy gets into his blood, leading to one dramatic situation after another, and keeping the action well alive from start to finish.

THE POWER OF THE SCREEN.

Joseph Hergesheimer, after adapting his novel "Tol'able David" to the screen, declared that the cinema was as great an agent as the pen, and had unlimited possibilities. Israel Zangwill considers it a tremendous force. George Bernard Shaw says, "If the scenario and screen can do what the novel takes 100,000 words to do, they save both the pen and the reader a good deal of trouble. There is practically unlimited work in the world waiting for the pen. Anything that sets the pen free from its present drudgery sets it free, not for idleness, but for better employment." Such opinions are refreshing as a powerful corrective to the destructive criticisms and unrepresentative onslaughts on the industry as a whole which are from time to time made by men and women of literary standing who know next to nothing of films.

SUGGESTION AND ITS POWER.

We hold no brief for the meticulous realism which sometimes militates against the claim of the motion picture to be a suggestive art-form; but we defy anyone to witness unmoved such pictures as "Peter the Great"—regarding which, by the way, the Daily Graphic itself says "pages of unspoken dialogue leap to the imagination," and "it has discovered sustained emotional situation on the screen"—or "Tol'able David." In the latter magnificent picture, a long scene of the exterior of a wooden house suggests with intense vividness, a terrific fight going on within, without the appearance of a single character. Is this defeating the imagination?

A GOOD CAUSE.

The British Legion, which is doing extremely valuable work for ex-service men of all ranks and their dependents, stands to benefit by the competition now in progress in a Sunday illustrated contemporary, and therefore it would be unfortunate to point out at length the inconclusive character of the results to be obtained. The "favourite film" is getting her into a well-known process of formation as the auction company. "Mulligan" is "favourite book." No doubt it is responsible for the production in who are first and last caterers for the public taste will accrue by the process of the contest, although one partly from pupils who paid ten or two of the pictures are not easy guesses for private classes. A man had the braver contrary to say competitor who has seen every film that it was quite common to get mentioned in a "film-fan" indeed tips higher than $50 from those who have the worthy object of the contest, and the picture which is most to be commended for the charge of amusement, has in the main, not been a success. The picture which is most to be commended for the charge of amusement, has in the main, not been a success. The picture which is most to be commended for the charge of amusement, has in the main, not been a success.

ANY LABOUR FILMS.

We are not very surprised to note that they might one day appear in any Labour's daily newspaper film.

WHERE THEY AANDER WHAT THEY ARE DOING.

Harold Shaw has joined the staff of the Metro Corporation in Hollywood.

Reginald Fox is appearing in "God's Prodigal" for Bert Wythe.

H. Trumper is playing for Denison Clift in "Out to Win."

Percy Standing has returned to London from Egypt.

Gordon Hopkirk has completed his part for George Pearson in "Tip-Tocs."

Lewis Gilbert is playing for Maurice Elvey in "The Wandering Jew" at Stoll's.

Roy Rich has been playing for George A. Cooper at Calford.

George Ridgwell is directing himself as Moriarty in "The Final Problem."

Bob Vallis is engaged to play a part in "The Mug Punce," for Walter West at the New Studios.

Miriam Murray is playing for Wilfred Noy in "Little Miss Nobody" at the Alliance Studios.

George Pearson's next production will be "Squibs, M.P." featuring Betty Balfour.

Alicia Ramsay is engaged on the scenario of "Lady Godiva" for W. P. Kellum.

Fred Rains has been engaged by Stoll to play the rôle of Selim in Sinclair Hill's forthcoming production of "Indian Love Lyrics" at Cricklowood.

Dezma du May has completed her part in "The Dancing Men" Sherlock Holmes episode, directed by George Ridgwell at Stoke.

William Pardee, whose physical resemblance to Douglas Fairbanks is so striking, and whose film and stage experience is lengthy, is playing in "Batling Butler" at the Adelphi Theatre.

Florence Nelson has just completed a part for Edwin Greenwood at the B. and C. Studios, and appears in the new quality film play at Calford, directed by George A. Cooper.

Lionelle Howard has just concluded his four weeks' engagement with Ideal, in the "Heavy Charles Hutchinson's production, "The Typo."

Nina Vanna, who lately portrayed "Lady Jane Grey" and "Lucia Borgia," in the B. and C. two-reel historical series, is playing, for the same company, the leading rôle in "The story of a Milliner," directed by Edwin Greenwood.

objects to films which show antagonism to organised labour and trade unionism as such. There is no need to take political side in any issue dealing mainly with creative work; and having said this, we find ourselves in agreement with the principles that propaganda, designed or incidental, is apt to be a two-edged weapon when presented under the guise of entertainment. The story shortage, however serious, is not yet in such a position that themes with a class-hatred moral need be drawn upon. A wise showman is out to please every section of his audience; and the producing unit with any breadth of vision is not likely to specialise in acutely controversial subjects, especially those which are calculated to evoke strong feeling at the expense of the intrinsic appeal of the pictures themselves.

FILM SCHOOLS.

"Film Schools" are not confined to London. A screen-struck young wife, according to a report, gave a lecture on the subject of the cinema at Glasgow, fifty guineas in consideration of his giving her "tuition" and obtained. The "favourite film" is getting her into a well-known process of formation as the auction company. "Mulligan" is "favourite book." No doubt it is responsible for the production in who are first and last caterers for the public taste will accrue by the process of the contest, although one partly from pupils who paid ten or two of the pictures are not easy guesses for private classes. LASKY'S NEXT PICTURES.

At a recent sales convention held by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation in New York City, Mr. Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president, in charge of production, announced the next year's Paramount productions scheduled for release beginning August 1. He stated that there would be fifty-two pictures released during the season 1929-30. This represents a reduction of twenty-five from the number of pictures released during the year just closing and definitely inaugurates the day of fewer and better pictures.

Each of the fourteen productions definitely announced by Mr. Lasky promises to be a "knock-out," but among those which deserve special mention are "Hollywood," a James Cruze production which has a cast including twenty stars and thirty celebrities. Mr. Cruze won undying fame for his stupendous production "The Covered Wagon," which has set a new standard, and "Hollywood," although entirely different, promises to be equally as good. "The Law of the Lawless" with Dorothy Dalton, Charles de Roche, Theodore Kosloff and Billy Marshall in the principal rôles, which Victor Fleming is to direct, also promises to be an exceptional picture. It is a story of the Tartar gypsies and is full of spirit and romance. Pola Negri, who has become the most popular star in filmdom, is to be starred in a George Fitzmaurice production, "The Cheat." Jack Holt and Charles de Roche will appear in the cast with her. Gloria Swanson is to be presented in a Sam Wood production, "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," an adaptation of a popular play. George Ade, the great American author and humorist has written a special story for Thomas Meighan which Alfred Green will direct. It is entitled "All Must Marry." And lastly there is a William de Mille masterpiece included in this list entitled "Mortal Love."

Mr. Lasky explained that the greatest personnel Paramount has ever had, has been gathered to produce these next year's productions and that no effort will be spared to make them the best and highest pictures they have ever made.

The stars and artists to appear in these productions are Cecil B. De Mille, Pola Negri, Thomas Meighan, Gloria Swanson, Agnes Ayres, Jack Holt, Walter Hiers, Babe Daniels, and Glenn Hunter. Among the noted featured players are Leatrice Joy, Nina Naldi, Antonio Moreno, Jacqueline Logan, Conway Tearle, Richard Dix, Ella Lee, Lois Wilson, Mary Astor, Robert Agnew, Anna Q. Nilsson, Vera Reynolds, Sigrid Holmquist, Ethel Walter, Ernest Torrence, Theodore Roberts, Theodore Kosloff, George Fawcett, Lewis Stone, Charles de Roche, Richard Corman, Charles Ogle, Mahlon Hamilton, and many others will be seen in parts that give them greater opportunities than they have ever had before.

Mr. Lasky said that the production "The Covered Wagon" had clearly proven that the day of bigger and better pictures was no longer a thing of the film future and that every succeeding picture in this group for the coming season will be made with every effort to continue the high standard of production.

MOVIES WITHOUT TITLES.

Movies without a printed title, stories so smoothly and artistically told by means of pictures that no word of explanation will be necessary—that is the ideal which Israel Zangwill, the famous English dramatist and novelist has set up as something for producers to strive for.

Some writers have contended that it could be done, some directors have toyed with the thought. In fact, the general tendency has been in this direction for some time with no definite conviction by those connected with the industry that it could be done successfully.

Up to the present practically all of the screen writing has been done by men trained in the studios to the technique of production. The works of famous authors have been reaching the screen in increasing numbers, but the general criticism of these writers has been that their have been changed to their detriment.

Now for the first time, the writers, with dramatists, theatrical producers, sculptors, artists and other leaders of thought are going to get together with producers for a general discussion of the subject and what can be done about it at an International Congress on Motion Picture Arts.

The suggestion of Mr. Zangwill is one of the first results of the invitations sent out by Rex Beach, chairman of the committee of the Author's League of America (Inc.) which is arranging for the gathering in co-operation with Adolph Zukor and Jesse L. Lasky.

CAST FOR "THE TEN COMMANDMENTS."

Cecil B. De Mille has announced the cast for his Paramount production, "The Ten Commandments." The principal feminine players will be Leatrice Joy, Nina Naldi, Batelle Taylor, Julia Faye and Edythe Chapman, while the leading male rôles will be enacted by Theodore Roberts, Richard Dix, Charles de Roche, Rod La Rocque and James Neill.

Those who will appear in the modern part of the production, wherein the present-day application of the Ten Commandments, evolved by Jeanie Macpherson, is shown, are Leatrice Joy, Nina Naldi, Richard Dix, Rod La Rocque and Edythe Chapman. In the Biblical prologue Theodore Roberts will be seen as Moses, Charles de Roche as Pharaoh Ramesses II, James Neill as Aaron, Estelle Taylor as Miriam, Gino Corrado as Joshua and Julia Faye as Pharaoh's wife. Other players who will take part are Clarence Burton, Noble Johnson, Lura Annen, Julia Leonard, Marcella Daly, Kate Taneray, Fred Eubler, John Randolph, Valentine Zimina and George Foster.

The filming of "The Ten Commandments" is the result of a nation wide idea contest in which the subject was suggested by seven contestants, each of whom received from Mr. De Mille the full award of $1,000 as first prize. This was nearly eight months ago and since then preparations for the great production have been going forward with all speed. One authority was quoted as saying that the production of "The Ten Commandments" was the most elaborate and costly ever undertaken in the history of the motion picture industry. The production cost is estimated at $1,000,000 and the running time is to be about 160 minutes. The picture is to be released in the fall of 1929.
